London art exhibitions 2022: an ongoing guide to the must-see shows

Our guide to the best current and upcoming London art exhibitions, and those around the UK, chosen by the Wallpaper* arts desk

If the last few years have taught us anything, it's that nothing beats an in-person art encounter. Narrowing down your London art exhibitions must-see list is rarely easy, even in the quieter months on the art calendar.

Here, we save you the trouble with an ongoing guide to the best London art exhibitions, in the city and around the UK.

'Same Same'
30 September - 22 October
Sid Motion Gallery

Gabriele Beveridge Coupling, hand-blown glass

As its name suggests, 'Same Same' is all about repetition in the act of creation. In a novel concept that's sure to induce feelings of déjà vu, curators Rose Davey and Sid Motion invited seven artists to execute the same idea twice. The resulting works are hung separately in adjacent spaces of the gallery, creating two versions of the same show. The Instead of spotting differences in aesthetic detail, the curators urge visitors to spot a shift in thought, a 'second solution to a single idea'.
